COMMODITY LINE CLASSIFICATIONS—MERCHANT WHOLESALERS, MERCHANDISE AGENTS AND BROKERS, AND ASSEMBLERS OF FARM PRODUCTS

Below is the list of commodity lines which appeared on the forms used in enumerating merchant wholesalers, merchandise agents and brokers, and assemblers of farm products in the 1963 Census of Business. Commodity codes, as they appear here, are the same as in the tables for these types of wholesale establishments. The first 4 digits of the commodity line code identifies it with the Standard Industrial Classification¹ (SIC) industry of which it is a part. For example, the first 4 digits of code 5013110, "automotive glass," identifies this commodity line with SIC industry 5013, "automotive equipment."

Absence of a commodity line from a kind of business or geographic area indicates that it is not usually sold by establishments in the classification and that the amount, if any, was too small to be recorded separately. Sales, if any, of commodity lines not shown separately are combined in the classification "commodities n.e.c." Space permits more complete description of some commodity lines here than the corresponding designation in the tables.

COMMODITY LINES OR PRODUCT CLASSES—MANUFACTURERS' SALES BRANCHES AND SALES OFFICES

Below is a list of commodity lines or product classifications, in 4-digit Standard Industrial Classification¹ (SIC) system order, which appeared on the forms used in enumerating manufacturers' sales branches and sales offices in connection with the 1963 Census of Business. The list is complete except for the "metals" classification data which are shown separately in tables 5A, 5B, and 5C. The codes as they appear below are the same as in the tables for these types of establishments. They correspond with the product class code, or group of codes, as used in the 1963 Census of Manufactures.

The first four digits of the code identifies it with the SIC industry of which it is a part. For example, all commodity or product class codes the first four digits of which are "2011" identifies them with SIC industry 2011, "Meat slaughtering plants."

Note: The sampling variability of the measures shown above, except for total operating receipts, is the same as that shown in table 13 for the ratio of these measures to total operating receipts. Total operating receipts figures are based on complete coverage in the 1963 Census of Business and are not subject to sampling error.

¹Total includes one kind of business not shown separately because of extreme variability.

Summary of Findings

At year-end 1963, the number of establishments in the United States with one paid employee or more and primarily engaged in public warehousing was 8,838 compared with 8,447 on December 31, 1958, the year of the last complete census of business prior to 1963. Revenue of these establishments increased from $936 million in 1958 to $1.1 billion in 1963, or 19.6 percent. Annual payroll in 1963 amounted to $454 million compared with $358 million in 1958, an increase of 26.8 percent, while the number of employees in mid-November increased from 97,210 to 101,541, a gain of 4.5 percent. It should be noted that 1958 data do not include Alaska and Hawaii. In 1963 these two States had 35 establishments or 0.4 percent of the U.S. total and almost $7 million in revenue which represented 0.6 percent of the nationwide total.

Increases were also noted in the amount of occupiable public storage space on December 31 in the 5-year interval. Floor space in 1963 was 355 million square feet compared with 340 million square feet in 1958, an increase of 4.4 percent; refrigerated space showed a substantial gain of 30.3 percent from 364 million cubic feet to 474 million cubic feet; bulk liquid storage space increased almost 40 million gallons to 467 million gallons in 1963, a net increase of 9.3 percent. A sharp decline, 30.8 percent, was recorded in the number of individual frozen food lockers; at the end of 1963 there were 843,977 lockers, compared with 1,220,323 five years earlier. See Introduction—Comparison of the 1958 Census With the 1963 Census.

In addition to the above there were 49 central administrative offices and auxiliaries which serviced public warehousing establishments and which were primarily engaged in general administration, supervisory, and other management functions. These offices and auxiliaries had 611 employees as of mid-March 1963 and an annual payroll of $4,317,000.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS WAREHOUSING AND STORAGE

One-third (2,955) of the 8,838 public warehousing establishments were primarily engaged in the storage and handling of furniture and other household goods. Their total revenue was $396 million compared with $251 million in 1958, up 58.0 percent, while annual payroll showed a similar increase, 59.1 percent. The occupiable public floor space increased 26.0 percent, from 56 million square feet in 1958 to 71 million square feet in 1963. In the same 5-year interval, revenue per square foot increased from $4.46 to $5.59. Establishments whose total occupiable floor space came to 64 million square feet analyzed the amount of space devoted to the storage of various types of goods. This analysis showed 87 percent allocated for household goods, 11 percent for general merchandise, and 2 percent for other goods.

Revenue in two States, California and New York ($67 and $51 million respectively), accounted for 30 percent of the total revenue in the United States. Other States with more than $10 million reported in total revenue were Texas, Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Florida, Virginia, and Missouri. The five leading standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's) in terms of revenue were New York, N.Y.; Los Angeles-Long Beach, Calif.; Chicago, Ill.; San Francisco-Oakland, Calif.; and Washington, D.C.-Md.-Va.

Household goods warehouses are shown by employment and revenue sizes in tables B and C.

Table B shows that of the 2,955 establishments 17 employed 100 persons or more in mid-November, while an additional 53 had between 50 and 99 employees. These 70 establishments accounted for 18 percent of the revenue and 14 percent of all occupiable public floor space. The largest number of establishments, 978, were recorded in the 8 to 19 employee size group. The amount of revenue realized per square foot ranged from $2.85 to $7.93 progressively from the 1 to 3 employee bracket to the 100 employee or more bracket.

The above table shows that 109 establishments in the annual revenue size grouping of $500,000 or more had almost $102 million in revenue while 268 in the next highest revenue grouping had $92 million. These 377 establishments accounted for 49 percent of the total revenue of all household goods warehouses. Annual revenue per square foot of floor space increased from $.27 per square foot in the lowest size group to $8.38 in the highest.

GENERAL WAREHOUSING AND STORAGE

At year-end 1963 there were 1,483 establishments primarily engaged in general warehousing and storage, a decline of 2 percent from the 1,512 recorded in 1958. However, total revenue for these warehouses increased 23.6 percent in the same period from $201 million to $248 million. Annual payroll showed a comparable 24.7 percent rise from $93 million to $116 million. The amount of occupiable public storage space on December 31, 1963, was 129 million square feet compared with 119 million square feet on the same date in 1958, an increase of 8.3 percent. Revenue per square foot of floor space also increased from $1.68 to $1.92 in the 5 years.

Revenue in seven States was recorded in excess of $10 million. Revenue in these States, which included New Jersey, New York, Illinois, California, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Texas, accounted for $137 million out of a total of $248 million, or 55 percent. Total occupiable floor space in the seven States at the end of 1963 was 71 million square feet, or 55 percent of the total floor space in the entire country.

The five largest SMSA's in terms of revenue were New York, N.Y.; Chicago, Ill.; Los Angeles-Long Beach, Calif.; Jersey City, N.J.; and Paterson-Clifton-Passaic, N.J. It should be noted that the 107 SMSA's with 250,000 inhabitants or more accounted for 87 percent of the revenue, 88 percent of the payroll, and 83 percent of the floor space. The comparable percentages for establishments classified in household goods storage and warehousing were 73 percent, 76 percent, and 71 percent respectively. The 107 SMSA's account for 56 percent of the population.

In the above table by employment size, 19 establishments employed 100 persons or more during the mid-November pay period. Sixty-nine establishments had between 50 and 99 employees on the payroll during the same pay period. These 88 establishments accounted for 29 percent of the total revenue and 24 percent of the floor space. Revenue per square foot of floor space ranged from $1.12 in the lowest size group to $2.56 in the highest.

In the table (E) which provides data by revenue size there were 659 establishments in the top three revenue size groups which had a combined revenue of $210 million. They accounted for 85 percent of the total revenue and 78 percent of the occupiable public storage space, but only 44 percent of the total number of establishments classified in general warehousing and storage. Revenue per square foot of floor space again showed a steady increase from $.52 for establishments having less than $5,000 in revenue to $2.50 for those having $500,000 or more.

REFRIGERATED WAREHOUSING AND STORAGE, EXCEPT FOOD LOCKERS

A moderate 4 percent increase between 1958 and 1963 was noted in the number of establishments primarily engaged in refrigerated warehousing and storage, except food lockers, while revenue in the same period showed a 25.3 percent gain and annual payroll a 15.1 percent gain. There were 769 such establishments at year-end 1963. Their revenue amounted to $177 million, while annual payroll was $68 million. Total occupiable refrigerated space climbed from 338 million cubic feet to 454 million cubic feet, an increase of 34.1 percent. These establishments also had 31,671 frozen food lockers installed on December 31, 1963, compared with 39,519 on December 31, 1958, a 19.9 percent loss. Revenue per cubic foot of refrigerated space declined from $.42 to $.39 in the 5-year interval.

There were only 5 States which reported revenue in excess of $10 million: California, $22,513,000; New York, $17,934,000; Illinois, $12,964,000; Massachusetts, $12,319,000; and New Jersey, $10,275,000. These 5 States accounted for 43 percent of the total United States revenue.

In the comparative summary of refrigerated warehouses by capacity size of establishment (table F) it can be noted that in 1958 almost one-half of the total space was in establishments with 1 million cubic feet or more. However, this increased to 58 percent in 1963.

FOOD LOCKERS WITH OR WITHOUT FOOD PREPARATION FACILITIES

The number of establishments primarily engaged in the food locker business decreased from 2,300 in 1958 to 1,904 in 1963. In the same period revenue decreased from $100 million to $85 million. In this connection, it should be noted that there was a change in classification of these establishments in 1963. For a fuller explanation of this change, see Introduction—Comparison of the 1958 Census With the 1963 Census. It should also be noted that this category does not include food lockers rented by ice plants, refrigerated warehouses, dairies, trade establishments, and other establishments which may have food locker rental revenue subordinate to their primary activity.

Individual lockers installed at the end of 1963 numbered 810,931 and the industry reported 2,398,141 cubic feet of additional bulk freezer space—space not in lockers.

Food locker plants are grouped in the accompanying table G by the number of individual lockers installed at the end of 1963.

Appendix A

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Public Warehousing terms:

Revenue—All receipts from customers during 1963 after deducting allowances and discounts.

"Revenue" includes receipts from storage, trucking, and other services performed by the warehouse; merchandise sales, including sales and excise taxes; and commissions from customers. Revenue figures therefore represent total returns from storage and related services, including any retail or wholesale sales. However, they do not include revenue from public warehousing activities conducted by establishments whose activities fall within the scope of other censuses or are not within the scope of the censuses.

Although the count of establishments in this volume represents the number in business at the end of the year, the revenue figures include revenue of all establishments in business at any time during the year.

Occupiable public storage space—Warehouse net piling space which was assigned, as of the end of 1963, to storage of goods for the public. Space leased to others on a landlord-to-tenant basis, non-storage space and that consumed by exterior or interior walls, permanent aisles, elevator shafts, stairways, offices, receiving and shipping platforms, or other areas in which goods are not usually piled are not included.

Floor space—Square feet of under-roof public warehousing floor space available for the storage of commodities which do not require refrigeration—commodities such as household furnishings, furniture, general merchandise, packaged goods, cotton, tobacco, lumber, and the like.

Refrigerated space—Cubic feet of refrigerated (net piling) space 50° F. or below assigned to public storage of commodities, such as dairy products, fruits and vegetables, meats, and other perishable items. Net piling space is inside space measured from wall to wall and from floor to ceiling less space for ventilation (outside the piling), coils, aisles, posts, sprinklers, etc.

Bulk liquid storage space—Tank space in gallons (shell or water capacity) for storing bulk liquid products.

Number of individual frozen food lockers installed—Number of individual lockers having storage capacity of less than 25 cubic feet. These data include only those frozen food lockers in establishments classified in the public warehousing group. See further explanation in Kind-of-Business Classifications for "Food lockers, with or without food preparation facilities (SIC 4223)."

Frozen food locker bulk freezer space—Cubic feet of freezer space in locker facilities available for bulk storage. These data include only the bulk freezer space in locker facilities operated in establishments classified in the public warehousing group. See further explanation in the Kind-of-Business Classifications for "Food lockers, with or without food preparation facilities (SIC 4223)."

Terms denoting size:

Employment size—Establishments are classified by size according to the number of paid employees as of November 15, 1963. Owners of unincorporated businesses, even though they may have been actively engaged in the business, were not counted as paid employees in determining employment size, nor was their compensation included in payroll. Establishments with no paid employees during the workweek ended November 15, 1963, are included in the smallest employment-size bracket.

Revenue size—Establishments are classified by revenue size in 1963. For the tables in this volume, revenue figures were rounded to thousands of dollars before establishing the size classifications.

Space size—Household goods warehousing establishments and general warehousing and storage establishments are classified by square feet of space, refrigerated warehousing establishments by cubic feet of space, and food locker establishments are classified by size based upon number of individual lockers installed.

In all size tabulations, establishments which did not operate for the entire year were not classified into size groups. Separate data are shown for these establishments.

Appendix B

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Public warehousing includes various classes of establishments engaged in providing storage facilities for goods owned by others. Many of these establishments also sell merchandise and perform some incidental processing or other services, such as cotton pressing, poultry dressing, cutting and trimming of meats, etc. Warehouses owned and operated by manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and other businesses for storing their own goods are not included in public warehousing but are classified as auxiliary establishments.

Descriptions of the kinds of business for which data are provided follow:

Household goods warehousing and storage (SIC 4214 and 4224)—Establishments engaged in the public storage of furniture and other household goods. It also includes warehouses of firms engaged in local trucking when trucking revenue represents 90 percent or less of the total revenue.

General warehousing and storage (SIC 4225)—Establishments primarily engaged in the warehousing and storage of a general line of goods. General merchandise is defined as material or goods of many varieties which are packaged or are readily handled and do not require refrigeration, controlled humidity, or other special facilities.

Refrigerated warehousing, except food lockers (SIC 4223)—Establishments (except food lockers) primarily engaged in the public storage of perishable goods at artificially low temperatures. Ice plants, poultry dressing plants, and other similar facilities whose principal receipts are from processing goods are not covered in this report.

Food lockers, with or without food preparation facilities (SIC 4223)—Establishments engaged in the public renting of artificially cooled locker space for the storage of food products for individual households. These establishments may or may not have services for processing, preparing, or packaging such food for storage. Establishments whose sales of merchandise exceeded 70 percent of total revenue and had 300 or fewer lockers are included in trade, and not in this report.

This category does not include any data for food locker rental by ice plants, refrigerated warehouses, dairies, trade establishments, etc. For those interested in data on food lockers in total, the Farmer Co-operative Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture occasionally publishes a report (Frozen Locker and Freezer Provisioning Industry, 1960) which shows data on food lockers regardless of the activity of the establishments operating them.

Farm products warehousing and storage (SIC 4221)—Establishments engaged in the public storage of farm products such as grain, cotton, tobacco, and other nonmanufactured farm products not requiring artificially low temperatures. Terminal or country grain elevators buying and selling grain in excess of 10 percent of their total revenue and also storing grain for others are included in wholesale trade.

Other special warehousing and storage (SIC 4226)—Establishments primarily engaged in the packing and storage of furs, petroleum products, chemicals, automobiles (dead storage only), textiles, whiskey, and goods at foreign trade zones.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Active proprietors of unincorporated businesses

—These data are computed by crediting sole proprietorships with one proprietor and partnerships with two proprietors for all such businesses operated at any time during 1963.

Administrative offices and auxiliaries—See “Central administrative offices and auxiliaries servicing wholesale establishments.”

Bad debt losses—Respondents were instructed to report the amount of receivables written off during 1963 as uncollectable.

Bin space—See “Warehouse and storage space terms.”

Brokerage or commissions received—Merchandise agents and brokers were instructed to report the amount of brokerage or commissions received on transactions negotiated for the account of others during 1963. The amounts are included in the tables under the heading “Operating expenses (including payroll),” footnoted accordingly.

Central administrative offices and auxiliaries servicing wholesale establishments—A central administrative office is an establishment primarily engaged in general administrative, supervisory, purchasing, accounting, and related management functions performed centrally for establishments of the same company. An auxiliary is an establishment primarily engaged in performing supporting functions of a service nature for establishments of the same company, rather than for the general public. Examples of auxiliaries are: Storage warehouses; garages; repair shops; research, development, and testing laboratories.

Commission bulk stations—See “Petroleum terms.”

Commodity-line sales—See “Sales terms.”

Cooperatives—See “Form of organization.”

Cooperative bulk stations—See “Petroleum terms.”

Cooperative grain elevators—See “Warehouse and storage space terms.”

Corporations—See “Form of organization.”

Country grain elevators—See “Warehouse and storage space terms.”

Employment and payroll terms:

Employment size—Analyses of wholesale trade by employment size provide data for a maximum of 13 employment-size groups of establishments, based upon the number of paid employees during the workweek ended nearest November 15, 1963. Active proprietors and partners of unincorporated businesses were not regarded as employees in determining the employment size of establishments. These employment-size groups are as follows:

- 1 paid employee
- 2 paid employees
- 3 paid employees
- 4 or 5 paid employees
- 6 or 7 paid employees
- 8 or 9 paid employees
- 10 to 14 paid employees
- 15 to 19 paid employees
- 20 to 49 paid employees
- 50 to 99 paid employees
- 100 to 499 paid employees
- 500 to 999 paid employees
- 1,000 paid employees or more

Establishments with one paid employee or more sometime during the year, but none during the workweek ended nearest November 15, are included in the “1 paid employee” size class.

Payroll, entire year—Payroll includes salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, and vacation allowances paid during the year to all employees. For corporations, it includes amounts paid to officers and executives; it does not include compensation of proprietors or of partners of unincorporated businesses. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, dues, etc. Payroll is not limited to “taxable” payroll as reported on IRS Form 941.

Payroll, workweek ended nearest November 15—This item consists of payroll, as defined above, paid to persons on the payroll in the pay period ended nearest November 15, 1963. Establishments with a pay period other than a week were requested to adjust the figures to a weekly basis.

Paid employees, workweek ended nearest November 15—Paid employees consist of the number of employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, who were on the payroll for the workweek ended nearest November 15. Traveling salesmen are counted as employees of establishments from which they operate or are controlled.

Establishment—An establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted. An establishment is not necessarily identical with the “company” or “enterprise” which may consist of one or more establishments. Census of business figures represent a summary of reports for individual “establishments” rather than “companies.” (Enterprise Statistics reports, Series ES, will be issued at a later date covering the censuses of business, manufactures, and mineral industries.) A separate report was obtained for each location where business was conducted, including each location of multiunit organizations. Each report was tabulated in accordance with the physical location at which the business was conducted.

Where two activities or more were carried on at a single location under a single ownership, all activities generally were grouped together as a single establishment, and the entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity, with all data for it included in that classification. However, separate establishment reports for each of the different activities were reported in the census where (1) distinct and separate economic activities (for which different industry classification codes were appropriate) were conducted under the same ownership at a single location, and (2) where conditions prescribed by the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual¹ for recognizing the existence of more than one establishment were met.

The “number of establishments” shown in this report is the number in business at the end of the census year.

Form of organization—Each establishment included in the 1963 Census of Business was classified into one of the following legal forms of organization:

Individual proprietorships—These are establishments owned by one person.

Partnerships—These are establishments owned by two persons or more each of whom has a financial interest in the business.

Corporations—These are establishments other than cooperatives owned by an organization or company legally incorporated under State laws.

Cooperative associations—These are establishments owned by an association of customers of the establishment, whether or not they are incorporated. In general, the distinguishing features of a cooperative are patronage dividends based on the volume of expenditures by the members, and a limitation of one vote per member regardless of the amount of stock owned. The establishments are open to the public as a rule, but are patronized primarily by members of the association operating the business.

Other legal forms—These are establishments whose legal form of organization is not one of those defined above. Included in this group are estates, receiverships, joint ventures, etc.

Grain elevators—See “Warehouse and storage space terms.”

Independent bulk stations—See “Petroleum terms.”

Independent country elevators—See “Warehouse and storage space terms.”

Individual proprietorships—See “Form of organization.”

Inventories (end of year) at cost—Inventories consist of stocks of merchandise for sale at the end of the year, at cost value rather than at sale price. Inventories are reported on an ownership basis and all merchandise owned by reporting establishments are included, even though some may be held by others for sale on consignment. Goods owned by others are not included.

Legal form of organization—See “Form of organization.”

Line elevators—See “Warehouse and storage space terms.”

Liquefied petroleum (LP) gas stations—See “Petroleum terms.”

Multiunits—See “Single units and multiunits.”

Operating expenses (including payroll)—Operating expenses include payroll as well as other overhead expenses of the establishments and a prorata share of any general office expense, but the term does not include the cost of merchandise purchased for sale, nor income or excise taxes. Any withdrawals by owners or part owners of unincorporated businesses are not included.

For merchandise agents and brokers, entries under column heading "operating expenses" represent the amount of brokerage or commissions received during 1963 on sales, or purchases, of merchandise for the account of others, rather than total expenses incurred by them.

Paid employees—See "Employment and payroll terms."

Partnerships—See "Form of organization."

Payroll—See "Employment and payroll terms."

Petroleum terms:

Petroleum bulk stations—These are establishments primarily engaged in marketing gasoline, kerosene, distillate and residual fuel oils and having bulk storage capacity of up to 2,100,000 gallons. They receive their supplies primarily by truck, transport, or rail—rather than by tanker, barge, or pipeline—and are primarily engaged in marketing products to retailers, to industrial accounts, and to farmers. Bulk stations located at refineries are included when they are operated as separate establishments.

Bulk stations are classified on the basis of ownership and method of operations as independent, commission, salary, or cooperative. Data are shown separately for each type of bulk station in table 2 of chapter 6.

The terms "bulk station" and "bulk plant" are used synonymously in this report.

Independent (single unit) bulk stations—These are bulk stations owned and operated independently by other wholesale establishments. This classification does, however, include bulk stations operated under the same ownership with retail service stations if the company operates only one bulk station. It does not include bulk stations owned and operated as cooperatives (see below).

Commission bulk stations—These are owned by multiunit concerns (firms operating more than one bulk station) but are operated by a commission agent who has a proprietary interest in the business. Operators of these stations generally are paid commissions and have responsibility for the payment of various overhead costs, delivery expenses, and payroll.

Salary bulk stations—These are bulk stations owned and operated by multiunit organizations on other than a commission basis.

Cooperative bulk stations—These are bulk stations (single unit or multiunit) owned and operated by cooperative associations. Many of these establishments are primarily engaged in selling petroleum products to farmers.

Petroleum terminals—Included here are two classes of facilities engaged in marketing gasoline, kerosene, and distillate and residual fuel oils: (1) All facilities having total bulk storage capacity of 2,100,000 gallons or more, and (2) facilities of smaller capacity which receive their supplies primarily by tanker, barge, or pipeline.

Liquefied petroleum (LP) gas stations—Stations and terminals with bulk storage capacity and primarily engaged in selling liquefied petroleum (LP) gas to dealers, wholesale distributors, or to industrial and commercial accounts (including Government and military).

"Refiner-marketer" or "other" ownership—Petroleum bulk stations and terminals are also classified on the basis of ownership either as "refiner-marketer bulk stations, terminals" or as "other bulk stations, terminals." "Refiner-marketer bulk stations, terminals" are owned and operated by petroleum refining companies primarily for marketing their products, and in this respect are similar to manufacturers' sales branches. "Other bulk stations, terminals" are marketing facilities not owned by, or affiliated with, organizations maintaining refineries.

Storage capacity—Storage capacity represents the bulk storage capacity (shell or water capacity) at establishments primarily engaged in marketing refinery products and LP gas at wholesale. Establishments operated as bulk stations or bulk terminals and located at refineries are included where they are operated as separate establishments. Facilities operated as integral parts of refineries are not included. Space in pipelines, tankers, tank cars, tank farms, public warehouses, and space leased to governmental agencies, including the military, is not included. Storage capacity is measured as of December 31, 1963.

Proprietors—See "Active proprietors."

Receivables—Accounts and notes derived from the sale of merchandise and services, and outstanding on the books of reporting companies—before deducting reserves for bad-debt losses—as of the end of the year. Receivables sold to banks, factors, etc., are excluded.

Refiner marketer—See "Petroleum terms."

Refrigerator space—See "Warehouse and storage space terms."

Sales terms:

Sales—Sales include merchandise sold, and receipts from repairs and from other services to customers, whether or not payment was received in 1963. Sales are net of deductions for refunds and allowances for merchandise returned by customers. Total sales exclude amounts other than those received from customers, such as income from investments, rental of real estate, etc. They do include local and State sales taxes and Federal excise taxes collected by the wholesale establishment directly from customers and paid directly by the wholesale establishment to a local, State, or Federal tax agency. Gasoline, liquor, tobacco, and other excise taxes paid by the manufacturer and passed along to the wholesaler are also included.

Sales do not include wholesale sales made by manufacturers, retailers, service establishments, and other businesses whose primary activity is other than wholesale trade. They do, however, include receipts other than from the sale of merchandise at wholesale (e.g., service receipts, retail sales, etc.) by establishments primarily engaged in wholesale trade.

Although the count of establishments in this volume represents the number in business at the end of the year, the sales figures include sales of all establishments in business at any time during the year. Sales shown for agents and brokers represent the value of the goods involved in the transactions rather than commissions received or earnings.

Sales by class of customer—Sales of merchant wholesalers, manufacturers' sales branches and sales offices, merchandise agents and brokers, and assemblers of farm products are analyzed according to customer classes as outlined below.

Sales to industrial, commercial, etc., users—While the wording of the inquiry varied to some extent by reporting form, respondents were instructed to report under this classification the approximate percentage of their total sales, 1963, to industrial, commercial, professional, institutional, and governmental users, public utilities, railroads, restaurants, hotels, contractors, builders, and similar types of business concerns that normally buy for business use rather than for resale of the goods in the form purchased.

Sales to contractors and builders are measured separately for establishments in the lumber and building materials trades and in the electrical goods trades. Also in the electrical goods trades, sales to public utilities and those to governmental bodies are measured sepaately. These variations from the general pattern are identified in footnotes to the tables.

Sales to consumers and farmers—Instructions provided for reporting under this classification sales to household consumers, to farmers, and to individual users, including sales to the respondent's own employees.

Sales to retailers—Instructions provided for reporting here sales to retailers of all types (retail multiunit organizations, independent stores, department stores, cooperative stores, etc.). Sales of food and related products to restaurants, however, are included under "sales to industrial, commercial, etc., users," not here.

Forms used in enumerating establishments in the automotive and electrical goods trades provided for reporting sales to repair shops separately. Such sales are included under "sales to retailers" but identified separately in footnotes.

Export sales—Instructions provided for including sales made direct to buyers in foreign countries or through their agents in this country. U.S. firms operating foreign branches were instructed to include any transfers from the United States to such branches. Sales to buyers in U.S. possessions are not considered as export sales.

Coverage and limitations of class-of-customer data—Recognizing the fact that not all wholesale firms maintain records of their sales by customer classes, respondents were instructed to report in terms of percentage of their 1963 sales, rather than exact dollar sales. Instructions further provided that where book figures were not available, respondents were to provide their best possible approximations. As may be determined by a comparison of the data in the two sales columns of the tables, not all respondents reported on this basis. The first sales column of tables in chapter 4 of this volume covers all establishments in the classification, including those not analyzing their sales; whereas, the second is limited to sales of those reporting the analysis. Coverage for any classification is measured by the relationship between the two sales figures. Data are generally withheld for classification in which coverage is less than 70 percent.

Class-of-customer data contain an element of judgment; hence, are not as accurate as information readily available from company financial statements. The results, however, represent a combination of information from company records, and information based on judgment of those most familiar with the subject.

Sales by commodity lines or product classes
—See “Explanation of Commodity Line Tables” in the introduction to chapter 8 of this volume.

Sales size—In the 1963 Census of Business, wholesale trade analyses by sales size are designed to provide data for a maximum of 11 sales-size groups for establishments operated the entire year. For the purpose of these tabulations, an establishment is classified as an entire-year business if it operated 10 or more months during the year and was in operation at the end of the year. Seasonal establishments, which normally operate for only a part of the year, are treated as “entire year” or “not entire year” on the basis of the length of time the establishments were owned rather than the length of time they were open for business during the census year.

For purposes of sales-size tabulations, the entire-year establishments have been classified into sales-size groups depending on the value of sales and receipts reported for the year 1963. These sales-size groups are as follows:

$20,000,000 or more
$15,000,000 to $19,999,000
$10,000,000 to $14,999,000
$5,000,000 to $9,999,000
$2,000,000 to $4,999,000
$1,000,000 to $1,999,000
$500,000 to $999,000
$300,000 to $499,000
$200,000 to $299,000
$100,000 to $199,000
Less than $100,000

As the class interval descriptions indicate, the establishments were classified by sales-size group after the reported sales and receipts figures had been rounded to the nearest thousand dollars. Each report was rounded by striking off the hundred, tens, and unit digits from the reported dollars. One, representing one thousand dollars, was then added to half of the reports.

Single units and multiunits—An establishment was classified as a single unit if it was operated by a firm which operated only one wholesale trade establishment in the United States. An establishment was classified as a part of a multiunit firm if the firm operated more than one wholesale establishment in the United States. Two or more wholesale establishments under the same ownership constituted a multiunit regardless of the kind of business or type of operation of the establishments.

The following single-unit, multiunit groupings are used in these tabulations:

Single Units:

1 establishment

Multiunits:

2 establishments

3 to 5 establishments

6 to 10 establishments

11 to 25 establishments

26 to 50 establishments

51 establishments or more

Standard Industrial Classification (SIC)—This is a classification system developed under the auspices of the Federal Bureau of the Budget. Reference: “Standard Industrial Classification Manual,” Executive Office of the President, Bureau of the Budget, 1957, and supplements.

Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA)—See “Appendix E.”

Storage capacity—See “Petroleum terms.”

Terminal grain elevator—See “Warehouse and storage space terms.”

Warehouse floor space—See “Warehouse and storage space terms.”

Warehouse and Storage Space terms:

Occupiable warehouse floor space—This item measures under-roof floor space—occupied or unoccupied—of wholesale establishments, excluding space occupied by interior walls, permanent aisles, elevator shafts, stairways, offices, receiving and stripping platforms, etc. Floor space was measured as of the end of the year.

Refrigerated space—Net piling space, 50° F. or below, for storing commodities. This is inside space measured from wall to wall and from floor to ceiling, less space for ventilation (outside of piling), coils, aisles, posts, sprinklers, etc. Refrigerated space is measured for the food and related trades only.

Bin space—Rated bin capacity, in bushels, for storing loose grain.

Coverage and limitation of warehouse floor space data—Each of the warehouse floor space tables is divided into three parts, as follows:

The first part, consisting of three data columns, presents information on the number of establishments, sales, and inventories for all establishments, including any without warehouses or storage space.

The second part, consisting of seven data columns, in tables 1 to 5 and four columns in tables 6 and 7, presents information for establishments reporting 500 or more square feet of floor space. This portion of the table provides the means for relating inventories and sales to warehouse space for the various types of operation.

The third part, consisting of three columns, shows the number, sales, and inventories of establishments not reporting as much as 500 square feet of warehouse floor space, or not supplying answers to this inquiry. This part of the table encompasses several classes of establishments. Included, for example, are small businesses and those whose merchandise was of such a nature as to require little warehousing. Also included are establishments who normally do not carry stocks, establishments that rely on the services of public warehouses rather than providing their own space, and establishments handling goods not normally requiring under-roof floor space. Finally, establishments that might have maintained warehouse floor space at the end of 1963 but failed to record it on the census form are included here. No distinction among these various classes is made in the table.

Space data as recorded in the tables are somewhat less than they would have been had all establishments reported on this inquiry. Moreover, had wholesale establishments reported all space controlled by them, the amount would have been short of that required to warehouse all goods in wholesale trade, as some stocks are located in public warehouses, some are held in bond, some are in transit, and some are in producers' warehouses awaiting delivery.

Table 7, chapter 5—This table covers only the wholesale food and related products trades—food wholesalers, sales branches of food processors, food brokers and agents, and assemblers of edible farm products. It is limited to information for establishments reporting 500 or more cubic feet of cold storage space.

Country grain elevators—These are distinguished from terminal grain elevators in that they buy grain direct from farmers, delivered primarily in trucks or wagons. Included here are establishments handling grain through properties commonly referred to as "elevators" and which are primarily engaged in buying and selling grain or in buying and assembling grain for shipment to central markets. Many country grain elevators sell feed, seed, fertilizer, and other supplies to farmers in addition to buying and shipping grain. Establishments primarily engaged in selling supplies to farmers are classified as retail establishments and are not included here.

Country grain elevators are classified as independent, line, or cooperative elevators.

Independent country elevators—These are country elevators operated by firms, other than cooperatives, with only one such establishment during the census year.

Line elevators—These are distinguished from independent country elevators in that two or more are operated by the same ownership.

Cooperative elevators—These are country grain elevators owned and operated cooperatively by farmers.

Terminal grain elevators—These are elevators with sizable storage space selling grain received primarily by rail or barge rather than direct from farmers via truck or wagon.

Terms denoting size:

Employment size—Establishments are classified by size according to the number of paid employees as of November 15, 1963. Owners of unincorporated businesses, even though they may have been actively engaged in the business, were not counted as paid employees in determining employment size, nor was their compensation included in payroll. Establishments with no paid employees during the workweek ended November 15, 1963, are included in the smallest employment-size bracket.

Revenue size—Establishments are classified by revenue size in 1963. For the tables in this volume, revenue figures were rounded to thousands of dollars before establishing the size classifications.

Space size—Household goods warehousing establishments and general warehousing and storage establishments are classified by square feet of space, refrigerated warehousing establishments by cubic feet of space, and food locker establishments are classified by size based upon number of individual lockers installed.

In all size tabulations, establishments which did not operate for the entire year were not classified into size groups. Separate data are shown for these establishments.

Appendix C

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Wholesale trade, as defined in major group 50 of the 1957 edition of the SIC Manual and its supplement¹ issued in 1963, and as covered in the census, includes establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise to retailers; to institutional, industrial, commercial, and professional users; or to other wholesalers; or in negotiating as agents in buying merchandise for or selling merchandise to such persons or companies. Importers selling merchandise at wholesale in the U.S. market and exporters are included in wholesale trade.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned a kind-of-business classification in accordance with the SIC code. However, because in some instances a more detailed classification is required for census purposes than is available in the SIC, additional kinds of business have been identified by the Bureau of the Census within the SIC categories.

It should be noted that kind-of-business classifications are not interchangeable with commodity classifications. Most businesses sell a number of kinds of commodities. The kind-of-business code assigned generally reflects either the individual commodity or commodity group which is the primary source of the establishment's receipts or some mixture of commodities which characterizes the establishment's business. Thus, the classification of establishments by kind of business generally does not make it possible to determine either the number of establishments handling a particular commodity or the sales of that commodity.

For example, the "groceries and related products" classification excludes establishments selling some food if the sale of food is not the primary source of receipts; moreover, even though establishments are classified in "groceries and related products" some of their receipts may be derived from the sale of non-food products.

An indication of the extent to which commodities are handled by different kinds of business will be published in Series BC63-WS, Commodity Line Sales.

The data in this report for a number of SIC groups have been subdivided, making it necessary to arrive at SIC major group totals by addition. The SIC system provides for grouping all wholesale establishments into 38 classifications. However, the census, while observing the SIC classifications, identifies an additional 21 major kinds of business. These 59 classifications are further subdivided in some tabulations to show information for a total of 140 individual kinds of business as indicated below. Classifications which are subdivisions of SIC industries are separately listed but are described only when clarification is required.

TYPE OF OPERATION CLASSIFICATIONS

Establishments in wholesale trade are grouped for census purposes into five major type-of-operation groups and further classified as outlined below.

Merchant wholesalers—Establishments primarily engaged in buying and selling merchandise on their own account, including farm products merchants who do not buy primarily from farmers. Included in this group are the following types of wholesalers:

Wholesale merchants, distributors—Establishments primarily engaged in buying and selling merchandise in the domestic market and performing the principal wholesale functions—buying, stocking, selling, etc.

Importers—Establishments buying and selling goods at wholesale on their own account, whose principal source of purchases was foreign.

Exporters—Establishments primarily engaged in purchasing goods in the United States and selling to foreign customers.

Terminal grain elevators—Establishments with sizable storage space buying and selling grain received primarily by rail or barge, rather than direct from farmers via truck or wagon.

Manufacturers' sales branches, sales offices—Establishments owned by manufacturers or mining companies and maintained apart from producing plants primarily for selling or marketing their companies' products at wholesale. (Branch stores selling to household consumers and individual users are classified in retail trade.) Sales branches or sales offices located at plants or administrative offices are included when separate records were available. In some tables data are shown separately for manufacturers' sales branches and for sales offices. These two types of establishments differ in that sales offices normally do not carry stocks of merchandise for delivery to consumers.

Sales as recorded for sales branches include direct deliveries from plants on orders from the branches as well as deliveries from branch stocks. Sales as shown for sales offices generally represent the value of orders written or booked by employees at the offices including salesmen working out of the offices.

Petroleum bulk plants, terminals, LP gas facilities—Establishments primarily engaged in marketing gasoline, kerosene, distillate and residual fuel oils, liquefied petroleum gases and other bulk petroleum products. Merchandise agents, brokers—Establishments whose operators are in business for themselves and are primarily engaged in selling—or buying—goods for others. "Sales" as shown for agents and brokers represent the sales (or purchase) value of the goods in the transactions negotiated. These figures include some approximation as some agents and brokers do not maintain accurate records of dollar sales.

In lieu of operating expenses, merchandise agents and brokers were requested to report the amount of brokerage or commissions received during 1963 on the sale or purchase of goods for the account of others. Summaries of the amounts so reported are included under the heading "operating expenses."

Auction companies—Wholesale establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise on an agency basis by the auction method.
